HII 10-Year Anniversary

Mike Petters, HII President and CEO: Today, March 31, 2021, marks the 10-year anniversary of Huntington Ingalls Industries. And while it's been ten years since we formed HII as an independent, publicly traded company, we are also celebrating our history that stretches more than a 130 years into the past, and our future, which is, in my opinion, very bright.

Ten years ago we hit the ground running, combining two legacy shipyards to become a “new” company. We had some real challenges. Yet because of you, we've met them and accomplished so much.

You've helped transform this company. Today, we are a Fortune 400 company with a backlog of more than $40 billion dollars, and we are building great ships for our Navy and Coast Guard customers. We've become a primary player in the Department of Energy arena, and have a strong footprint in unmanned markets. And remarkably you've accomplished so many things during the COVID-19 pandemic, which has been a challenge no one could have predicted.

And while projects and challenges have changed, our ethics, values and commitment to quality have remained the same.

From day one, you have done the hard stuff right. So while this celebration includes shipbuilding milestones, contract awards and more, it's really about you. About each one of you who has given so much to be part of something bigger than yourself.

It's because of your work, your dedication, that we are here today.

There are hundreds of accomplishments I could list in the past 10 years and that would take too much time. But I would like to highlight a few incredible successes that YOU have achieved since 2011. Thank you so much. Because of you, we are well-positioned for the next decade. And the one after that. Thanks again!
